City Counselor Says Surreptitious Opening of the Canal Will Not Affect Litigation Adversely, Congressman Bartholdt's Discouraging Conference With Attorney General-Federal Injunction a Remedy.

William Brown of Chicago, the special ctorney employed to represent the City St. Louis in fighting the Chicago Drainage Canal, has communicated with City Counselor Schnurmacher concerning the recent action of the drainage trustees in surreptitiously opening the canal on Tues-day last. Mr. Schnurmacher will not divalge the centents of the communication or give forth his plans for meeting this unexpected development.

expected development.

"There is no cause for alarm over the movement of the trusives in opening it's big ditch." he said.

"In fact, they have helped rather than injured the case of this city by acting without the permission of Governor Tunner. If the trustees anticipated that by opening the canal in the manner in which they did they were heading of St. Lovie there. they were heating off St. Louis Higstion they were greatly mistaken, for it will make no difference if the canal is in full operation when we proceed."

FORMAL PERMIT EXPECTED.

Chicago, III. Jan. 2—Water is creeping down the new drainage canai at the rate of about a mile an hour, and some time tonight will reach the controlling works at Leckport. It is pouring through the collateral canal at the rate of about 5.000 cubic feet a minute, and this flow has already caused a perceptible southward flow to the Chicago tilver, and resulted in a great decrease in the murkiness of the water. The work at the dam at Joliet, it is said, will be completed in four or five days, much sooner than was expected, and when that is completed the canal, so far as its use for sandary purposes is concerned, will have been practically completed. The gates of the controlling works at Lockport, now open, will be closed, as no legal completions are expected, and the water in the north service of the canal allowed to rise to the level of the water cast of the Campbell avenue will be cut, the collateral canal having served its purpose, and the gates at Lockport opened again.

The water in the Chicago River to-day is about eight inches lower than it was yesterday, but this according to members of the Sanitary Board, is not due to the flow of water into the canal, and is bot more than the usual variation in the depth of the river.

he river.
Engineer Randolph has addressed a report
o the members of the inspection commision, showing in detail the condition of very branch of the work. The understanding is that the commission will reply at sion, showing in detail the condition or every branch of the work. The understanding is that the commission will reply at once, pointing out any finishing touches needed to make the canal conform with the letter of the law. The trustees will do all that is requested in this direction, and the commission will then submit its fine report to the Governor There is no doubt as to the friendly attitude of the commission will probably never be known. There is no doubt as to the friendly attitude of the commission and Governor Tanner, and a formal permit is expected soon after the report has been made. The special committee will meet in Chicago a week from to-day.

PHOTOGRAPH ESTABLISHED HER IDENTITY POSITIVELY.

LILLIE WEAVER'S PARENTS NOTIFIED. Past History of the Girl Who Died Under the Name of "Lillie Horner." All doubt as to the identity of the girl who died at the City Hospital on New Year's Day under the name of Little Horner was set at rest yesterday when the Chief of Police received a photograph from Quincy, Lil., of Lillie Weaver, sometimes known as Lillie Weavel, whose parents live in Contsburg, three miles west of Quincy. The resemblance between the photograph and the features of the dead girl was so marked as to leave no room to doubt that the dead girl was the Lillie Weaver of Quincy. When this had been proved to the satisfaction of the Chief of Police, a telegram was sent to the parents of the girl, asking what disposition they wanted to be made of the body, adding that it would be held until an answer is received. Lillie Weaver was a good-looking young woman, of neat appearance and graedous address. She was employed as a servant in the family of Justice Carter at Quinc) until 1894, when she went to Altor. She remained there only a short time and then came to St. Louis, where she hired out as a servant in various families. She conducted herself in a proper manner, so far a Is known, until about a year ago, when she went to work for Mrs Laura Clinton, Page and Pendleton avenues. Mrs.

When her case came up for trial she pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months in fall. While in jail she corresponded with a number of men throughout the country who had matrimonial intentions, and at one time was engaged to be married to six different men in various States. She obtained mon-ey, it is said, from several of her dupes, with which to prepare her trousseau, before her scheme was discovered by the jailer. After her release from jail, last summer, she dropped out of the sight of the police authorities.

Three weeks ago, under the name of Lillie Horter, she obtained employment as a servant in the family of Mrs. J. Combs. No. 5524 Maple avenue. Mrs. Combs says the girl conducted herself very properly for the first two weeks, and she trusted her implicitly. believing she was thoroughly honest. A week ago Mrs. Combs thought from her actions that she had been drinking, but afterwards dismissed her suspicious as groundless. New Year's Eve Mrs. Combs's sout. F. W. She sammoned Doctor Tanquary, who said the girl was not seriously iil, and would sleep off the effects of the liquor. Later in the day the physician was again summoned, and found the patient in a state of collapse, and had her removed to the City Hospital, where she died.

Mrs. Combs, in looking over the effects of the girl in her trunk, after she had fied, found evidence to indicate that her real name was Lillie Weaver. She communicated these facts to the policy authorities, and these facts to the police authorities, and later investigation resulted in her identifica-

A SURE CURE FOR CROUP.

Twenty-Five Years' Constant Use Without a Failure.

The first indication of croup is hoarseness, and in a child subject to that disease it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hearseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy rough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is used in many thousands of homes in this broad land and never disappoint the anxious mothers. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not proved effectual. No other preparation can show such a record—twenty-five years' constant use without a failure—Adv.
